ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A scanner is provided which reads an image written on a white board and generates image data indicative of the image. The image data generated by the scanner is transferred via a LAN or the Internet under the control of a CPU.